I have one lawyer. You have an entire team. Atty is not on my case. Brittney is not even a lawyer. You insist on copying them on every email you send me. Wasting legal fees? You have sued me in multiple cases, filed a grievance against me, more motions than imaginable in the divorce action, sued dr Adler.... And you accuse me of being wasteful with legal fees? You are a joke. Everyone (except your Facebook cronies) knows it. I don't know what you think I should be consulting with you about catherine regarding an annual physical. If the kids are due for an immunization, they will get it. If dr Winkler has the flu shot, they will get it (like every other year). Okay, do you think they should get the flu shot catherine? I wish, just once, you would actually try to work as a parent and not just try to "catch me". When ally fell off her bike - rather than saying "I'm glad you immediately got her to the ER to get her cut taken care of." Instead you initiate a CPS investigation of me. The kids only wear hand me downs? Okay catherine, whatever you say. My credit card bills say otherwise. In fact, I can't remember the last time they wore a hand me down. Have a nice weekend catherine. I know I will.

What about flu shots, Allan? And why do your lawyers have to be involved with so much? You accuse me of "wasting" money and you won't even have email correspondence about clothing, doctors, food and visits? I am PRO SE and you spend money on numerous lawyers and all this collateral stuff too? Why?

What are you talking about "calling in the insurance"? This is an annual physical obviously.
